THE MANY ADVENTURES OF CUDDLES

Marcel Ray Duriez

A little squirrel goes on small expeditions and discovers a lot of wonderful things at school. A charming story with delightful illustrations that kids will surely adore.

Marcel Ray Duriez was born in 1991 in Johnstown, Pennsylvania. He has a background in the fields of fine arts, writing, engineering, and music.

"The book is made more appealing and captivating by the illustrations that breathe life and movement into the characters and scenes. The author's words beautifully, and help children to get into the reading habit. It's a good book that can be used for bedtime storytelling and it's also good for read aloud sessions in classrooms and school libraries."

The Many Adventures of Cuddles

I created this story to acquire children's interest in reading; I believe that Cuddles is a good way of accomplishing the task. Because she and her friends are interesting and child appropriate. Kids will enjoy the journeys that she will go on, therefore they will comprehend what they are reading and what they are seeing throughout the stories. I created the art work to capture the many scenes in the stories, to draw the reader into the world that Cuddles lives in. And also to give the characters their own personalities. Thank you for reading.

I have to say that I've been blessed with a gift of being able to draw since the age of five years old. And to be able to come up with stories, so one day I just decided to combine the two. What I enjoy the most about this process, is that I am able to envision in my mind what the characters and scenes will look like before they even exist on paper. Watching the characters as they go from sketches to full-color it's like they develop their own personality. I never get tired of seeing my vision come to life. Writing and illustrating is a way for me to express myself. Being raised in a small coal mining town that is currently not living up to its former glory; Barnesboro Pennsylvania is a small town, there is not much to do, but work towards your future dreams and desires. But what better way to spend your time. I would like to give special thanks to the people who supported me over the years. Thank you: Marcel Ray Dimiez

Chapter One
My Family

On a cold and lonely day in an old run- down barn in the country, in the land of many hay fields, I slowly opened my eyes to see the world that was before me. I had come to the realization that I was not alone. There were others all around me. They looked the same as I; but yet they're not quite the same I am. We were gathered around what we now recognize as our mother.

The night was so unpleasantly cold and windy, but having the comfort of being with my siblings and mother was divine. It was time to find all the entirely new things surrounding us, while meeting my brothers named Gus and Rusi and my two sisters named Jill and Lili, and my father named Bill.

Things were about to change in all of our lives. As the days went by my siblings were away. I later found out that Gus lives with a boy who took him home on the school bus. Rusi went home with a girl on a tour bus. Jill and Lili found a home in big house on a hill. As for me and who I am, you are about to find out. This is the story of my life!

Copyrighted material

Chapter Two
It's All About Me

Many people say that it is common for puppies to leave their mother after the first five weeks of their life. But I had no idea of what was in store for me.

"Hello!" My name is Ellie, these are some of the discoveries in my life in the last couple of years. So come along with me on my journeys.

I was with my mother, and all of a sudden this scary looking person walked up to me and reached down with his icy, clammy hands to pick me up. But before he could do that I bit him. I did not want some old farmer touching me. I asked "How would you like it if someone was picking you up by the back of the neck?"

This man's name was John; he was a farmer. From what I could see at the time he was an older man. He had a long white beard, shiny forehead and two buck teeth. I did not like him at all that much. I think he might have known that because he decided to sell me. "I was thinking this is not good."

Local author pens children's book

By Audrey Brothers-Konior
for Mainline Newspapers

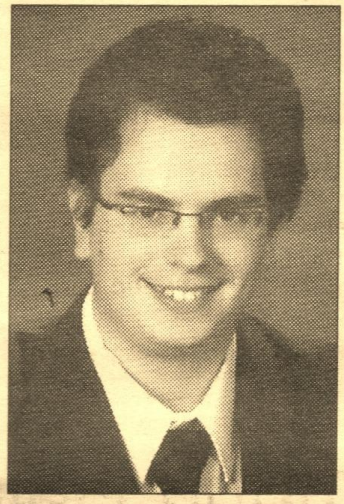
Not many people are able to utilize two talents in a creative manner.

Well, Marcel Duriez is one such individual.

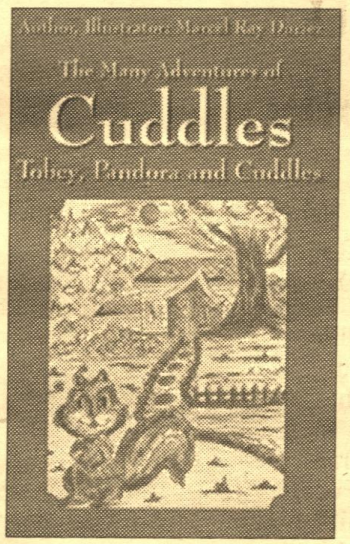
He recently wrote, illustrated and published a book entitled, "The Many Adventures of Cuddles," which features Tobey, Pandora and Cuddles.

"I created this story to acquire children's interest in reading. I believe that Cuddles is a good way of accomplishing the task because she and her friends are interesting and child appropriate. Kids will enjoy the journeys that she explores; therefore, they will comprehend what they are reading and what they are seeing throughout the stories. I created the art work to capture the many scenes in the stories, to draw the reader into the world in which Cuddles lives. I also wanted to give the characters their own personalities," Duriez stated.

He has been creating artwork for many years, then one day he decided to add stories to the art. That is how he became an author/illustrator of children's books. "I enjoy writing fiction. One of the awesome things about being the artist, is that you can envision the characters and their personalities before drawing takes place. Knowing that the book that I created will bring bliss to others is thrilling to me. I like to work toward achieving my dreams to "Strive for Perfection." I would like to give thanks to those who supported me over the years," Duriez stated.



Marcel Duriez



Duriez, who has been drawing since the age of five has also completed drawings of landscapes, portraits, classic cars, cityscapes and flowers - just to name a few. His favorite creation thus far is his Titanic drawing.

His goals are to put out a book every year so he can express himself and touch others through his words and drawings. Duriez is a 2009 graduate of Northern Cambria High School.

"The Many Adventures of Cuddles" is available at Amazon or Barnes and Noble.

Birches Robert Frost- Poems

When I see birches bend to left and right. Across the lines of straighter darker trees,
I like to think some boy's been swinging them.
But swinging doesn't bend them down to stay.
Ice-storms do that. Often you must have seen them
Loaded with ice a sunny winter morning
After a rain. They click upon themselves
As the breeze rises, and turn many-colored
As the stir cracks and crazes their enamel.

Soon the sun's warmth makes them shed crystal shells
Shattering and avalanching on the snow-crust-
Such heaps of broken glass to sweep away
You'd think the inner dome of heaven had fallen.
They are dragged to the withered bracken by the load,

And they seem not to break; though once they are bowed
So low for long, they never right themselves:
You may see their trunks arching in the woods
Years afterwards, trailing their leaves on the ground
Like girls on hands and knees that throw their hair
Before them over their heads to dry in the sun.
But I was going to say when Truth broke in
With all her matter-of-fact about the ice-storm,

I should prefer to have some boy bend them
As he went out and in to fetch the cows-
Some boy too far from town to learn baseball,
Whose only play was what he found himself,
Summer or winter, and could play alone.
One by one he subdued his father's trees
By riding them down over and over again
Until he took the stiffness out of them,
And not one but hung limp, not one was left
For him to conquer. He learned all there was
To learn about not launching out too soon
And so not carrying the tree away
Clear to the ground. He always kept his poise

To the top branches, climbing carefully
With the same pains you use to fill a cup
Up to the brim, and even above the brim.
Then he flung outward, feet first, with a swish,
Kicking his way down through the air to the ground.
So was I once myself a swinger of birches.
And so I dream of going back to be.
It's when I'm weary of considerations,
And life is too much like a pathless wood
Where your face burns and tickles with the cobwebs
Broken across it, and one eye is weeping
From a twig's having lashed across it open.

I'd like to get away from earth awhile
And then come back to it and begin over.
May no fate willfully misunderstand me
And half grant what I wish and snatch me away
Not to return. Earth's the right place for love:
I don't know where it's likely to go better.
I'd like to go by climbing a birch tree,
And climb black branches up a snow-white trunk
Toward heaven, till the tree could bear no more,
But dipped its top and set me down again.
That would be good both going and coming back.
One could do worse than be a swinger of birches.

For Marcel Ray Duriez

"I want to say - I believe in new talents in writing, like the Nevaeh Manuscript. We have chatted briefly about his work, and I would say he can go for his dreams, I did. If I must give an opinion, I feel he can do it."
